Henderson Jury Continues Deliberations For 2nd Day

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The red-carpeted courtroom that has been the arena for the trial of Col. Oran K. Henderson since August has become the deliberations room for the jury that must decide whether he willfully concealed the My Lai massacre.

It was the 62nd day of trial, equaling in length the court-martial earlier this year of another My Lai defendant, Lt. William L. Calley Jr. That trial, including 13 days of deliberations, was the longest in U.S. Army history.

Calley's conviction of 22 murders was the only guilty verdict in the five previous My Lai trials. Henderson is the highest ranking officer to be tried as a result of My Lai. His trial is the only one that has revolved around the alleged cover-up, rather than the attack itself.

The two generals and five colonels on the Henderson jury preceded their first session Thursday with a request for several documents in evidence and a rereading of the testimony given by Brig. Gen. Samuel W. Koster, a prosecution witness.

Two hours and 10 minutes later, when they adjourned for the day, the jurors looked tired, their notes made since the start of the trial stacked inch-high in front of them.

Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, the trial judge, slowly read 33 pages of instructions to the jury before deliberations began.

The issue is whether Henderson made "a genuine effort to discover the facts" about My Lai, Wondolowski said.

Henderson, 51, was commander of the 11th Brigade of the Americal Division on the day troops under his command attacked the South Vietnamese village, killing more than 100 men, women and children.

The Army charged Henderson was told what had occurred, even though he took no part in the action on the ground, and should have investigated. Henderson claimed he accepted a count of 128 Viet Cong and 20 to 28 civilian dead, and that he was misled by subordinates he questioned about a helicopter pilot's report of the killings.

Security Council Ponders Choice To Succeed Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council scheduled a closed meeting this afternoon to try to choose a new secretary-general to succeed U Thant on Dec. 31.

Diplomatic sources said the five permanent members of the council listed five nominees:

Max Jakobson, Finland's delegate to the United Nations; Kurt Waldheim, Austria's U.N. ambassador; Felipe Herrera of Chile, former president of the Inter-American Bank; Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan, U.N. high commissioner for refugees; and Gunnar Jarring, the Swedish ambassador to Moscow and U.N. special representative for the Middle East.

Informants said the discussion and voting would not be limited to the five. They expected that one or another council member would propose Argentina's U.N. ambassador, Carlos Ortiz de Rozas; former Foreign Minister Gabriel Valdes of Chile, who is director of the U.N. Development Program's Latin American bureau; and perhaps S.S. Rampaal of Guyana.

These sources said there might be votes also for two announced candidates who did not make the Big Five's list: Shirley Amerasinghe, Ceylon's U.N. delegate, and Ethiopia's minister of communications, Endalkachew Makonnen.

The council may need more than one meeting to agree on a candidate to recommend to the General Assembly.

The five permanent members of the Security Council—Britain, China, France, the Soviet Union and the United States—play a decisive part in the process because the assembly can only vote on the council's nominee, and a veto from any of the Big Five can block any candidate.

The five failed to agree on a candidate in six private conferences in the past week.

On Thursday they sent the names of Jakobson, Waldheim, Herrera, Prince Sadruddin and Jarring to the council president for December, Ismael Byne Taylor-Kamara, of Sierra Leone, and asked him to call the council together today.

Irish Union OK With Heath

No Unity Likely Despite Statement

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath says his government would accept a united Ireland only if the people of Northern Ireland agreed.

"If, by agreement, the North and South should decide to come together," Heath said in an interview, "not only would the present government raise no objection, but I cannot conceive of any future government which would want to stand in their way."

"All we say is that a united Ireland cannot be brought about by force and that we cannot usurp the right of choice of the people of Northern Ireland."

Heath's statement appeared to rule out any prospect of Irish reunification soon, because Northern Ireland's Protestant majority is militantly opposed to union with the Roman Catholic republic in the south. But talks in search of a political settlement to end the violence in Northern Ireland are expected to begin early in the new year and to involve all parties in the British and Irish parliaments.

Heath also warned the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army that their campaign of "murder and terror" to unite Ireland was doomed.

"We are determined to defeat you, and you will fail," he declared.

In Belfast, meanwhile, the government of Northern Ireland agreed to help organize a force of unarmed civilian vigilantes to help protect people and homes from the IRA. But Premier Brian Faulkner warned that the volunteer force would have to abide by a code of practice he would draw up with the British army.

Property Tax Ruling Slated By State Board

35 Per Cent Appraisal Rate Most Likely

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Board of Tax Appeals is expected to order today that all real estate in Ohio must be appraised at 35 per cent of true value for tax purposes.

Napoleon Bell, a Columbus attorney and board member, said the 35 per cent figure was arrived at because it would cause "the least amount of disruption to any subdivision."

The formal ruling is expected to be handed down later in the day. The board was under orders from the Ohio Supreme Court to set a statewide uniform rate.

Legislative action will probably be required to keep some governmental units from coming into a tax windfall and others from losing money.

The board earlier had indicated it was thinking about putting the rate at 40 per cent of true value. The average assessment among the 88 counties is 30.8 per cent.

Current law specifies only that the percentage of true value for tax purposes should be no more than 50 per cent.

However, county assessments now vary from 26 to 33 per cent. The legislature has indicated it may change the true value to around 30 per cent.

Most counties have levied different rates on three categories of property—industrial, agricultural and commercial and residential.

The Supreme Court, ruling on a suit by the Park Investment Co. of Cleveland, said all taxes should be levied at the same percentage rate on all classifications in all counties.

Sen. Michael Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, has contended that a 40 per cent of true value ruling would shift the tax burden from big business to home owners and farmers.

President Nixon broke the stalemate earlier in the week when he announced, after a meeting with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores, that the United States would be willing to devalue the dollar as part of general currency realignment.

Mikio Mizuta, the Japanese finance minister, told newsmen the Japanese government was prepared to accept a 50-50 chance for agreement on new currency values.

U.S. Treasury officials spoke optimistically of hopes for a settlement, as Secretary John B. Connally met privately on the eve of the talks with the finance ministers of Japan, Germany and the United Kingdom.

The new currency system would include a dollar devaluation ranging from 5 to 8 per cent and revaluations of the Japanese yen and the West German mark and other currencies. The French franc would remain unchanged.

What might result, U.S. sources said, is a temporary system of exchange rates that could be ratified by the International Monetary Fund and returned later to Washington after two days of talks with French President Georges Pompidou.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi greeted Yahya's acceptance by saying: "I must be careful because I don't know yet whether it will be a full peace."

Welfare Rolls Up In August; Outlays Dip

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's welfare rolls swelled in August for the first time in four months but total expenditures declined, the government announced today.

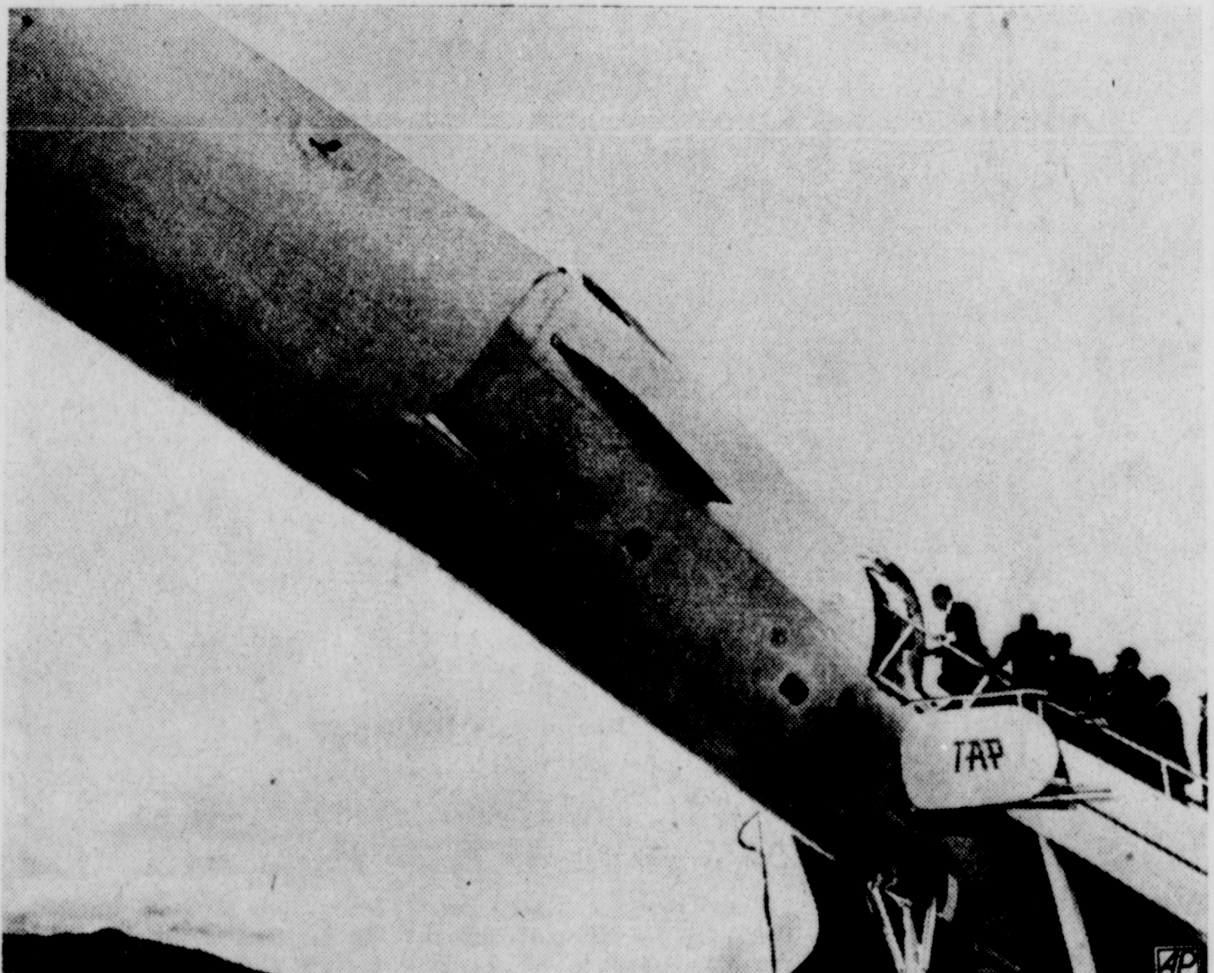

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said about 14.4 million persons received cash payments, an increase of 138,000 persons—or 1 per cent—during August, the latest month for which statistics are available.

The rise nearly wipes out the cumulative 1.2-per-cent caseload decline during May, June and July, but represents a significant reversal of the average 2-per-cent monthly increase earlier in the year.

Spending for all public assistance including Medicaid totaled $1.5 billion for August, a $15-million decrease from July, attributed primarily to smaller demands for medical care.

HEW's Social and Rehabilitation Service said 95,000 persons were added to the Aid for Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program in 42 states, the District of Columbia, Guam and the Virgin Islands.

New Jersey, which had dropped 108,000 AFDC recipients in July under tighter rules governing unemployed and employed parents, added 25,300 in August. Michigan, Illinois, Florida, Missouri, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas recorded increases of 5,000 to 9,500.

CHECKING THE CONCORDE — President Nixon stands at the doorway of the Concorde, the British-French supersonic transport before inspecting the interior of the plane at Lajes Field, Azores. Nixon voiced regrets that the United States has not built a similar type of plane. The President returned later to Washington after two days of talks with French President Georges Pompidou.

Monetary Meeting Opens; Hope For Speedy Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Finance ministers of the 10 richest non-Communist nations gather here today to try to build a new system of money-exchange rates around the U.S. offer to devalue the dollar.

As the so-called "Group of Ten" prepared for a two-day meeting at Washington's oldest Smithsonian Institution building, optimism abounded that an interim system of currency-exchange rates could be worked out by the weekend.

If so, it would end the long-standing international monetary crisis in which world currencies have floated against each other without fixed rates of exchange.

President Nixon broke the stalemate earlier in the week when he announced, after a meeting with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores, that the United States would be willing to devalue the dollar as part of general currency realignment.

Army Denies 'Tiger Cage' Cells Used

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army admitted today that it temporarily imprisons GIs in large metal crates. But it said they aren't "tiger cages," they're 8 by 10-foot rooms with cross ventilation.

"We have been using them for a long time" when permanent cells are not available, said Lt. Col. Vincent J. Carafano Jr., an Army spokesman. "They are not tiger cages or little boxes like the Japanese used in World War II."

Carafano was asked about a report that a deserter had been hospitalized Wednesday night after being kept for more than 50 hours in a steel shipping container at Long Binh, the big army headquarters 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

"He was detained for about 48 hours because he refused to identify himself or his unit," said Carafano. "But he was not in the detention facility continuously. He was taken out to all meals. He was taken to the latrine on request, and he was permitted to walk with an escort."

On Tuesday night, Carafano said, the soldier's behavior "was observed to be other than normal," and Wednesday morning he was taken to the 24th Evacuation Hospital for psychiatric evaluation. "This evaluation resulted in his admission to the 24th Evacuation Hospital where he remains under guard," the spokesman said.

Ohio Air Guard Chief Now On Reserve Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brig. Gen. Frederick Wenger of the Ohio Air National Guard has been appointed by Defense Secretary Melvin Laird to a three-year term on the Reserve Forces Policy Board.

Bloodmobile Visit Set Monday

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will make its final visit to Circleville for 1971 Monday.

This date has been changed from Dec. 21 as originally scheduled. The hours will be 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Community United Methodist Church.

Those who donated at the last visit on November 5 will not be eligible since the required 56 days have not elapsed.

Several Pickaway County residents have received transfusions in area hospitals recently which may be replaced by friends and relatives.

Emmett Hinton, Route 4, is scheduled to undergo open heart surgery next week and blood donations may be made in his name.

A request has been received by the Pickaway County Chapter to recruit 8 A-negative blood donors for open-heart surgery. The patient is a ten month old boy who will be having surgery on Tuesday at Children's Hospital.

Please call 474-3736 to make an appointment.

New Treasurer Takes Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Romana Banuelos was sworn in today as the 34th treasurer of the United States.

Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, in administering the oath, said he knew she will bring a "high measure of grace and quality" to the Treasury.

Mrs. Banuelos' husband Alejandro and son Alejandro Jr. looked on during the ceremony.

As treasurer, Mrs. Banuelos will be responsible for administering the flow of American currency within the U.S. economy.

Banking Rule Changes Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission is likely to call for a shakeup of government bank-supervisory agencies and recommend that savings and loan associations be allowed to offer checking accounts.

These are among a long list of recommendations contained in a draft circulating among members of the Presidential Commission on Financial Structures and Regulations. The Associated Press obtained a copy.

While the final report has not been approved by the commission, sources said only changes in details are expected before the formal recommendations are made, probably next month.

National banks now are supervised by the comptroller of the currency; state banks which belong to the Federal Reserve System by its board; other state banks by the states and, if their deposits are federally insured, by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

The draft report recommends a new agency, the office of the administrator of state banks, to examine and supervise state-chartered, insured banks. The office also would supervise those savings and loan associations that acquired a substantial checking-account business.

It recommends that the office of the comptroller of the currency be renamed office of the national bank administrator and established as an independent agency outside the Treasury Department.

Still another new agency, the federal deposit guarantee administration, would take over for existing agencies that insure deposits in banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions.

The draft recommends that all state banks and state savings and loan associations that offer checking accounts be required to join the Federal Reserve System.

And it recommends a wide expansion of powers and functions for savings and loan associations and the somewhat similar mutual savings banks chartered in some states.

Regents OK University Funding

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Board of Regents today approved appropriations for higher education outlined in the new state budget, and created and filled two new vice chancellor posts.

The board named Dr. Max Lerner as vice chancellor for two-year campuses, and William Coulter, as vice chancellor for administration.

Coulter currently heads the board's staff. Dr. Lerner was active in planning for two-year community colleges.

The board gave its approval to provisions in the new state budget continuing the $30 per quarter fee increases put into effect by the board in the fall, and permitting another $10 increase next year.

The board also approved a resolution granting $400,000 to Bowling Green State University and $600,000 to Kent State University because they were unable to implement the higher fees before President Nixon's Aug. 15 price-freeze order.

Regents' Chancellor Dr. John D. Millett noted that the higher fees did not apply to undergraduate students whose families had incomes of less than $10,000.

Human Mannequin Outdraws Santa At California Store

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Robert the Mannequin stands motionless, head cocked, arms extended, slightly bent at the waist like any good department store dummy. Christmas shoppers hurry by unnoticing.

Then he moves, ever so slightly.

"Oh my," a startled matron whispers to her companion. "That dummy, he moved. I saw him move."

Click, click, click. Like a mechanical robot, Robert turns his head, moves his arms up and down, straightens up, slumps forward, again motionless.

The green eyes stare blankly, the face frozen. Around the shopping mall, others have caught the movement on a platform at the entrance of a men's shop where several mannequins are clustered.

Suddenly the mannequin strides stiff-legged into the crowd, arms jerking up and down. The spectators melt before the advance until one young couple holds its ground.

Like a toy soldier that's run into a chair leg, Robert the Mannequin stands before the couple, arms outstretched, feet moving in place.

The crowd laughs and applauds.

Robert is outdrawing even Santa Claus at the shopping center.

"The hardest thing, the thing I took me the longest to learn, is not to laugh, not to break," Robert Montoya, 28, said during a break in the store where he's been hired.

Montoya's passion for pantomime was born 10 years ago when he saw the famed French mime, Marcel Marceau.

"I was hooked. He's been my idol ever since," Montoya said.

At grand openings, restaurants, banquets, wax museums, wherever he could convince someone a robot was needed, Montoya has plied his skills.

"People are so used to seeing mannequins around that when one moves, they tend to get a little nervous," he said.

"I've been hit, pinched, kicked and struck on the head with a skillet."

Several minutes later Montoya again toy-soldiered into a crowd of shoppers, stopping in front of a dazzling blonde.

"Your place or mine, handsome," she cooed.

Robert the Mannequin, unflinching, wheeled and marched away.

Analysts noted that profit-taking pressures were holding the market back. A rally sent the Dow average ahead some 16 points in the past two sessions.

In the news background the Group of Ten finance ministers began their two-day international monetary meeting in Washington. Analysts said it was possible the meeting could result in some kind of settlement.

Advances led declines by less than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Stock Mart Edges Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices edged modestly higher in active trading today as the current stock market rally lost some of its momentum.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained .22 to 871.61. Earlier it was up more than 2½ points.

Advances led declines by less than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that profit-taking pressures were holding the market back. A rally sent the Dow average ahead some 16 points in the past two sessions.

CAROLERS will be on hand Saturday afternoon when the 90-member sixth grade chorus from Ashville School present a holiday program for the entertainment of downtown shoppers in front of the Chamber office on W. Main St. ... The students will be directed by Mrs. Mary Lou Partee.

PICKAWAY County Sheriff's Deputies are investigating the case of the missing deer ... Elmer Mosley, 53, of Kenova, W. Va., phoned the department to tell them he'd hit a deer bounding across Route 23, 12 miles north of the city, Thursday night ... Claimed the deer was injured but not killed, and four people in a car had stopped to render assistance while he went to phone the law enforcers ... But when he returned to the car, both the people and the deer were gone.

"HEAD west, young man ... And that is what any person seeking the County Board of Education will have to do after Monday, which is the official moving day to new offices at 139 W. Franklin St. ... Lowery Lane Mission History Told To Community Council

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Is Her Doctor Kind Or Interested?

DEAR ABBY: I am strongly attracted to my doctor. He is divorced and I am a widow. I have a hunch he feels something for me. He is very kind and gentle. He is also very ethical. He hasn't expressed any special interest in me, but he frequently brushed lint, or what have you off my clothes. Could this mean something?

He seems concerned about my welfare in a professional way. He touches me a lot. Friendly gestures. On the arm, shoulder and hands. He listens to me attentively, however trivial my conversation.

Am I just lonely, or do you think this could develop into something more than just a doctor-patient relationship? And if so, how?

PATIENT
DEAR PATIENT: Since he is, as you say, "very ethical," you will have to find out outside his office. The next time you need an escort, invite him to do the honors. If your hunch is right, and he "feels something for you," the next move will be his. If your hunch is wrong, you haven't lost anything, and you've saved a lot of time.

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary to an executive in a large and important firm, and as such, I telephone other businesses in like positions. The purpose of this letter is to express amazement at the stupidity of some of the secretaries with whom I have spoken on the telephone.

Example: When I telephone and say, "Is Mr. Jones available?" Mr. Smith of X. Y. Z. Corp. is calling. I have been told, "One moment please, I don't think he's come in yet." (And this is at 11:15 a.m.)

Or: "Would you care to hold?" He's on the other telephone with Mr. Schwartz. (It's nobody's business who he's on the phone with.)

Or: "He hasn't come back from lunch yet, but he won't be gone long. Nobody took him." Or would you believe, "Just a minute. I think he's in the john."

Girls can be taught how to type and take shorthand, but I honestly believe they should be given a course in common sense.

AMAZED IN NEWARK
DEAR ABBY: Please put this in the paper with your answer. Our next door neighbor gave us a Christmas gift a whole MONTH in advance. (She did the same thing last year.) Here we are, living next door to her and she could have waited until at least two weeks before Christmas.

I have a theory about people who give gifts that far ahead of time. They want to give the recipients plenty of time in which to buy a gift for THEM. And of course, after you GET them a gift, they are obligated to give one in return. Your comment, please.

IRRITATED
DEAR IRRITATED: Your letter falls into the "You Can't Win" category. Your "theory" could be correct. It could also be incorrect. Many prefer to avoid the hassle of Christmas giving by sending gifts well in advance of the rush.

DEAR ABBY: Is it normal for a boy who is in the 8th grade to kiss his mother goodbye every morning before he goes to school, and then wave a couple of times as he goes down the street?

I have two grown sons, and they stopped kissing me goodbye in about the 2nd grade. Sign me

WONDERING
DEAR WONDERING: The boy's behavior in this one instance could suggest that he has a rather strong attachment to his mother. But that doesn't necessarily mean there is anything abnormal about it.

Stans Blasts News Stories On Finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans has accused The Associated Press of a "distorted and dishonest piece of journalism" for a story disclosing that his private foundation holds an interest in a Thailand paper company that benefits from U.S. government assistance.

In a statement issued Tuesday night, Stans repeated earlier denials that he gained personally from control of the private Stans Foundation or that he could profit from its $24,302 interest in Siam Kraft Paper Co.

Those denials were reported in the original AP story, which was distributed Monday, along with a statement by Stans that "there is nothing whatsoever in this situation that could conceivably involve conflict of interest."

In his statement, Stans also described as distorted in AP story which disclosed in February that the secretary had a $318,000 interest in a major Penn Central subsidiary at the time his department was engaged in secret efforts to save the railroad from bankruptcy.

That story also carried a statement by Stans that he had withdrawn from Penn Central negotiations after attending one high-level meeting with the railroad's bankers.

Stans said both stories were "deliberately written after I had given the facts in writing in a manner which fully disproved the inferences."

The Stans Foundation of Chicago acquired its interest in Siam Kraft, which produces paper bags, after he took office in 1969.

Last year, after the company incurred an operating loss of $4.8 million, Siam Kraft sought and obtained extension of an Export Import Bank loan.

Underground Comics Gain In Popularity

By DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Nooter the Computer turns human. Philburt Desinex, deuce reporter, gets his zipper stuck changing into his Wonder Wart-Hog costume. The Fabulous Furry Freak Brothers get busted for possession of marijuana and are allowed one phone call. They order a pepperoni pizza.

If these don't sound like ordinary comic book situations to you, you're right. They're from the expanding world of underground comics, which are known in the youth culture as "head comix."

The comix began appearing in the late 1960s on the West Coast. Now they are a big business with perhaps as many as a few million in circulation, produced by some two dozen major artists working for six major publishers.

Already some of the early issues have become collectors' items. One issue with incest as its high point sells for $5 to $10 though it originally cost only 50 cents. A half dozen anthologies have been published or are in the works.

Underground comix differ from their overground counterparts in their political overtone, sex and gore and sympathies for the drug culture.

The first big underground comic was Zap, which was hawked on the streets of San Francisco in 1968 by Robert Crumb a Philadelphia-born artist who has gone on to become the creature genius of the industry.

Zap was soon followed by comix of the Fabulous Furry Freak Brothers and Wonder Wart-Hog, Feds 'N Heads and eventually some 150 other titles.

Most of the characters are unique to the artist but some are parodies of the old familiar cartoon characters that another generation grew up with.

"It Ain't Me Babe," a women's liberation comic, shows several well known female comic characters, including Veronica and Betty and Petunia Pig. In it, Petunia Pig tells Porky to cook his own dinner.

No subject is taboo. A story featuring cannibalism concludes, "You are what you eat." Dale Steinberger, a Jewish cowgirl, too. Characters are dismembered and sexual intercourse is pictured in any number of unusual ways. Nooter the Computer gets programmed for an orgasm.

Les Daniels, author of "The History of Comic Books in America," says that the shock value is a large part of the underground comix' appeal.

The underground artists have begun appearing in some overground publications. Playboy recently produced artist Gilbert Shelton's Feds 'n Heads game, based on the comic book of the same title. Fritz the Cat, a Crumb creation, has been made into a 90-minute cartoon which will be released in January. An X-rating is anticipated.

Underground comic artists make a generous interpretation of copyright laws. It is not unusual for one artist to take another's character and work with it. And unauthorized reprints in the underground press generally go unchecked.

There are some indications the publishing houses are getting more businesslike. Tyler

Lantzy at Krupp Comic Works in Milwaukee said that for the first time Krupp is keeping track of its inventory.

Still they maintain their underground flavor. Salesmen travel in Volkswagen buses or fly into town then hitchhike to the nearest outlet. Advertisements appear primarily in the underground press and contracts still are often verbal.

Head shops—small boutiques that specialize in items peculiar to the youth culture—are the primary distribution points and the comix sell best near universities.

Seek Monetary Settlement By Time Congress Returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — With key issues still to be resolved, the United States expects to forge a new international monetary settlement by the time the 92nd Congress reconvenes Jan. 18.

The Nixon administration then would be ready to introduce in Congress its bill to devalue the dollar, which it agreed to do in principle earlier this week. It might also be the time for the death of the import surcharge.

U.S. officials have emphasized that any monetary settlement must be a package deal in which elimination of some trade barriers, notably by the Common Market, and sharing of defense costs are included.

But the next month will be crucial. First, finance ministers and central bankers of the 10 richest non-Communist nations gather here this week to discuss how much their currencies should be worth in relation to each other. At the same time, U.S. officials plan bilateral talks with trade representatives on stripping away barriers to U.S. exports.

Then President Nixon has key meetings scheduled with leaders of West Germany, Japan and Britain. Trade and burden-sharing of defense costs are expected to be among topics of discussion.

Nixon broke a logjam and enhanced a currency-trade-defense-cost settlement when he agreed to devalue the dollar as part of a new international monetary settlement. He did so Tuesday in a meeting in the Azores with French President Georges Pompidou.

The United States wants revaluation of several major currencies to go along with the dollar devaluation, principally an increase in the value of the Japanese yen and the West German mark.

Women Join U.S. Secret Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Secret Service has its first female special agents to help guard presidents and defend the Constitution.

Five women, all college graduates in their 20s, were sworn in Wednesday and joined the 1,111 men who protect the president, vice president and their immediate families and guard the nation's currency against counterfeiters.

The agents' duties also include protection of major presidential candidates and visiting heads of state.

The women were trained in hand-to-hand combat, marksmanship, first aid, human relations, communications and search and seizure. They spent a year in the Executive Protective Service, a uniformed police force supervised by the Secret Service, which guards the White House and 117 foreign missions in Washington.

Secret Service Director James J. Rowley said the new special agents "will be expected to do everything the men do" and will receive equal pay.

The five women were identified as Laurie Anderson, 24, of Jersey City, N.J.; Sue Baker, 25, of Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Kathryn Clark, 24, of Salt Lake City, Utah; Holly Hufschmidt, 28, of Milwaukee, Wis.; and Phyllis Shantz, 25, of Rome, N.Y.

Give yourself a Christmas present — spend some browsing time in the library. Just now there are many new items on hand.

There is a new supply of paperbacks, whose popularity is increasing rapidly. Also, there are new records for children and for adults. And don't forget that the library has framed prints of famous paintings, ready to hang on your wall for a period of twenty-eight days.

"Dramatics" is one of the new monthly magazines recently added to the periodical collection. Primarily educational, the magazine is designed for directors, teachers, and students of theater arts. November's issue includes: a two-character one-act play; low budget hints for production; a discussion of "Hair"; reviews of books pertinent to the stage; and notes on play festivals. It announces a playwriting contest for high school students. Illustrated in black and white, its format is pleasing. Round town Players, teachers, and others who are "stage-struck" will enjoy this new periodical.

Norah Loft's books are sure-fire best sellers. Her latest historical novel is "A Rose for Virtue", based on the life of Hortense, step-daughter of Napoleon. Wise beyond her years, Hortense viewed her mother's stormy marriage at an emotional distance. Turns of her own life seemed always to be controlled by forces beyond her control. She was destined to become the mother of Napoleon III. As always, Miss Loft's book makes enjoyable reading. It can be recommended without reservation.

Xerox is one of those trade names which has become a part of the common language of the day. Other photocopyers are often called Xerox, to their manufacturers' dismay. John H. Dessauer tells the story of this rags-to-riches machine in "My Years with Xerox, the Billions Nobody Wanted." Joseph Wilson, president of the parent company, was the genius who masterminded the Xerox climb to success.

"Bear Island", like "The Guns of Navarone" and "Ice Station Zebra", may well become a motion picture. Alistair MacLean seems to have that special knack that marks the good storyteller. "Bear Island" is about a series of unusual accidental deaths. Characters confined on a North Arctic island allow these bizarre events to trigger a nameless fear. Good, fast reading for a cold winter's night.

On Christmas Eve and again on New Year's Eve, the library will close at noon. On all other days it will maintain its usual schedule.

Armco Increases Product Prices Starting In '72

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. will raise its steel mill product prices by 6.5 per cent Jan. 1, 1972, except for cold rolled sheet products, which will be raised Feb. 2.

A spokesman said Thursday the firm had received permission from the Federal Price Commission to invoke price hike announced last August. The increases were withheld during the price freeze.

The adjustments will result in an increase of 3.8 per cent in Armco's overall annual sales revenue, the spokesman said.

The new price schedules will only partially offset increased costs of materials and labor, the firm said.

IS YOUR FAMILY KEEPING YOU FROM HAVING A SPORTS CAR?

If you think a sports car isn't big enough for a man with a family, you haven't seen the Fiat 124 Sport Coupe. It has enough room inside for four 6-foot men. With baggage.

Yet it is a real sports car. Not just a sporty-looking car. It'll take you from zero to 70 in 14.6 secs., it has a DOHC engine, a five-speed gearbox and disc brakes on all four wheels.

It's not only the kind of car you really need when you're driving a family; it's the kind you've always wanted when you're by yourself.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-2086

Mr. Frank Grice, 160 W. Main St., will be celebrating his 86th birthday on Dec. 18.

Results of the Ashville Belles Tuesday Morning Housewives Bowling League for Tuesday, Dec. 14th were: High single game and three-game series, Bea Smith, 191 and 526; High team game and three-game series, Morrison's Market 690 and 1848.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters held their Christmas Dinner and Exchange in the country home of Francile Peters on Dec. 13th.

Twelve members and two guests enjoyed the carry-in dinner which was served at 6:30 p.m. Following the dinner gift exchange was held.

President Mary Helen Miller conducted a brief business meeting following the exchange. Minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report were given by Dorothy Cook. Two of our members, Winnie Morrison and Rose Kaiserman have passed away since our last meeting. The group gave a monetary donation to the K. P. Home in Springfield, to be used at the annual Christmas Party on Dec. 23rd.

A card was signed by those present to be sent to Past Grand Chief Myrtle Jewell who recently underwent surgery. The president announced that the yearly hostess calendars would be distributed at a later date.

Following the business meeting games were played with first prize being awarded to Marilyn Sabine.

Those enjoying the evening were Florence Wharton, Mildred Messick, Edith Hudson, Gladys Rush, Helen Kuhlwein, Francile Peters, Marilyn Sabine, Fern Lutz, Dorothy Cook, Mae Borrer, Madge Baum, Mary Helen Miller and guests, Karen Peters and Mary Lee Baum.

Mrs. Peters' home was beautifully decorated in the Christmas Holiday theme.

The High School Youth of the First English Lutheran Church will decorate the Christmas tree this Saturday, Dec. 18th at 3 p.m.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, Dec. 17, the 351st day of 1971. There are 14 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1903, Orville and Wilbur Wright made the first successful airplane flight, soaring over sand dunes near Kitty Hawk, N.C.

On this date: In 1819, Colombia was united with Venezuela under the South American patriot and liberator, Simon Bolivar.

In 1830, Bolivar died in Colombia.

In 1914, Britain proclaimed a protectorate over Egypt.

In 1919, a U.S. arsenal at Picatinny, N.J., blew up, causing $1 million damage.

In 1939, during World War II, the German crew of the pocket battleship Graf Spee scuttled the ship off Uruguay rather than let it fall into the hands of the British.

In 1941, the Japanese began an invasion of North Borneo.

Ten years ago: A crowd of half a million greeted President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy in Bogota, Colombia.

Five years ago: The United States and the Soviet Union hailed a treaty they had made barring war in outer space.

One year ago: There were growing disorders in Poland protesting price increases, and up to 20 persons were reported killed.

President Ponders Meeting With Heath

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, flying here on short notice, was reported to be preparing for his Bermuda summit meeting next week with British Prime Minister Edward Heath.

Only two top aides—chief of staff H. R. Haldeman and Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler—accompanied the President here Wednesday afternoon.

Combined Meeting Held By Good Shepherd Circles

A combined meeting of the Morning and Evening Circles of Women's Society of Christian Service of Calvary United Methodist Church was held in the Church Sanctuary Tues. evening.

The business meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Harry Betz. Four new members were welcomed into the Society, Mrs. Donna Wilson to the Evening Circle and Mrs. Florence Whaley, Mrs. Marion DeLong and Mrs. Henry McCain to the Morning Circle.

Book marks were given to each one present by Mrs. Tussell. A gift of $25 was voted for the Otterbein Home at Lebanon, Ohio.

Two Christmas flowers are to be purchased for the decoration of the Church sanctuary. President, Mrs. Dale DeLong, will later deliver them to shut-ins.

All were invited to attend the "Christ's Birthday Party" following the Church Christmas Program Sunday, Dec. 19th.

A good representation is anticipated for the Communion Service to be held on Christmas Eve at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. DeLong announced that World Day of Prayer is to be March 3rd with Calvary being host Church. The remainder of the evening was given to the program committee with Mrs. Sara Dresbach as chairman. A solo was sung by Robert Bensonhaver "O, Holy Night." The offering was then received.

The leader, Mrs. Dresbach stated: The experience of most of us is that Christmas is a busy time. But Christmas can be more than busily "nice." It can also be beautiful, if we use Christmas symbolism properly and thoughtfully. And we can fill our days with moments of peace, if we let the eyes of the spirit give our activities a real meaning.

We spend so much of ourselves through our preparations that we do not let ourselves receive the true gifts of Christmas.

Sit back and receive the gifts of Christmas through the wonderment of familiar symbols.

All have played "Hold out your hands and shut your eyes, and I'll give you something to make you wise." There is a beautiful significance in the childhood game.

God too, has gifts, spiritual gifts, that He would give us at

Church Class Entertained

Loyal Daughters Class of Good Shepherd United Methodist Church met recently in the Service Center for a Christmas Party. Thirty-three members and five guests enjoyed a turkey dinner prepared and furnished by the president, Mrs. Blanche Kerns; vice president, Mrs. Pauline Schooley and class teacher, Mrs. Catherine Martin. It was served by members of their families. The Rev. Eugene Flowers presented prayer.

Mrs. Kerns conducted a brief business meeting. Mrs. Thelma Jones gave each member a calendar and holiday envelopes were collected.

The class gave gifts to Mrs. Kerns, Mrs. Schooley and Mrs. Martin and members exchanged gifts.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Hazel Merz and Christmas carols were sung. Mrs. Margaret Gard read Scripture from Matthew and the poem, "Our Daily Bread." "These Gifts We Bring" was read by Mrs. Florence Dresbach and Mrs. Stella Sims read a Christmas prayer.

"The Peace of Christmas" was read by Mrs. Merz. All present joined hands and sang "Blest Be The Tie That Binds" and Mrs. Flowers closed the activities with prayer.

Sunday School Class Sets Supper

Mrs. Ellen Harmount's Sunday School Class of Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church will have a carry-in supper beginning 6 p.m. Saturday at the church. A gift exchange will follow the supper.

Nurses Assn. Plans Christmas Program

Pickaway County Registered Nurses Association will hold its Christmas program 8 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Stephen Compher, 582 Hickory Place. Members are to bring gifts for foster children.

Many coastal birds have a built-in sense of time so precise that after inland trips, they can return to shore for feeding at the hour when the tide is right.

New Officers Elected By Union Guild

Union Guild met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lucille Terry, 509 Garden Parkway. Mrs. Hazel Mowery served as assisting hostess.

Mrs. Magdalene Fee, president, opened the meeting with reading of an article pertaining to the Christmas Scriptures. Several Christmas carols were sung.

During the business session, Mrs. Helen Newton was named president; Mrs. Evelyn Hoover, vice president; Mrs. Martha Krimmel, secretary and Mrs. Pauline Schooley, treasurer.

Entertaining committees for the new year were drawn and new mystery sister cards were distributed.

Mrs. Martha Krimmel was in charge of the program. Christmas readings were given by Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Grace Streitenberger, Mrs. Mabel Bircher and Mrs. Fee.

At the close of the afternoon refreshments in keeping with the Christmas season were served to 17 members. Mystery Sister names were revealed and a gift exchange followed.

Mrs. Magdalene Fee will be hostess for the January meeting which will be a covered dish dinner at noon.

Church Class Holds Annual Holiday Meet

Willing Workers Class of Pontius United Methodist Church held its Christmas meeting in the home of Mrs. Grace Leist, 304 E. Mound St. on Thursday evening. Mrs. Leist had her home beautifully decorated for the Christmas season.

Mrs. Marguerite Stevison, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Ethel Klingensmith presented the opening prayer.

The program was in charge of the vice president, Mrs. Robert Brobst. Mrs. Walter Richard read St. Luke 2: 1-15 verses. Mrs. Floy Brobst read the poem "Christ's Willing Workers."

A Christmas Carol Service was enjoyed with Mrs. Russell Palm accompanying at the piano and Mrs. Brobst having a reading before each carol explaining the Christmas Story. Mrs. Edwina Holderman closed the program with prayer.

Games were played, gifts exchanged and secret sisters were revealed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leist.

The January meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Russell Palm, Route 4.

Mrs. Ned Harden Hosts Annual Christmas Tea

Mrs. Ned Harden entertained members of Pickaway County Garden Club for their annual Christmas Tea Tuesday afternoon. Many festive arrangements and decorations of the holiday season enhanced the Harden home.

The program presented by Mrs. Frank Gans included "The Christmas Tree And It's Beginning" and a poem "It Was That Night." The origin, customs, use and symbolism of the Christmas tree was depicted in the first article.

An arranging contest followed judged by Mrs. Gans. Traditional and modern wood Christmas table arrangements, entered by the members, were then exchanged. A green holly mahonia candle arrangement made by Mrs. Willison Leist won first award. Mrs. Emmett Barnhart's green candle with green base green velvet ribbon and gold flower and gold cone trimming won second. A birch cone tree constructed on a styrofoam base and encircled by boxwood made by Mrs. Bernard Savy was third. Mrs. Theodore Huston received honorable mention for her gold cone wreath and white candle arrangement.

Mrs. Dean Sells, president announced that Mrs. Robert Wilkinson Jr. had been elected to active membership. Mrs. Jack Frantz reminded members that all dues must be paid by Dec. 31st.

Workshops will be held 1:30 p.m. Tuesday Jan. 11th, place to be announced later, and on Tuesday Feb. 8th at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Willison Leist.

The next regular club meeting will be March 14th, a Guest night carry-in dinner at the Presbyterian Church.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Karl E. Seyfarth, Mrs. Eugene Barthelmas, Mrs. Theodore Huston, Mrs. Carson Horton and Mrs. Collis Young.

Party Honors Todd Clifton

A party was held Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Clifton of Adelphi in honor of their son, Todd, for his 7th birthday.

Games were played with prizes given to each child. Cake, ice cream, potato chips and punch were served to the guests.

Present for the party were: Chris Davis, Herbie Edwards, Kurt Lemaster, Dane Carroll, Steven Duvé, Kimmie Cook, Todd Poling, Billy DeBord, Alan and Karen Brokaw, Michael Lanning, Stephen Azbell, Billy Forsythe, Mike and Karen Hardman, Todd, Tammy, Kimberly and Kevin Clifton.

Gifts were sent by Tracy Arledge, Mrs. Ernest Weaver and Mrs. Donald Hardman.

Realigned State Services Setup Being Developed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another redistricting plan is being developed by the state administration, but this one is not likely to attract the kind of controversy that has surrounded the redrawing of political boundaries.

The newest plan is aimed at overhauling completely the channels through which state government delivers its services to Ohio communities.

Recommendations being prepared by the state Development Department will call for creation of 10 to 15 administrative regions or districts by which state agencies implement multi-county projects, like highways, health care, sewage treatment and law enforcement.

Gov. John Gilligan believes the plan would streamline state government by cutting red tape and eliminating duplication of work. He has noted there currently are 332 multi-county districts in the state which operate with no coordination from the top.

Dinner Fetes Anniversary

Children of Mr. and Mrs. David McCain of Ashville hosted a dinner in celebration of their parents' 63rd Wedding Anniversary at the Mecca Dining Room on Wednesday.

Problems Face Victorious India, Bangla Desh Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

India, victorious in East Pakistan, apparently intends to nurse a new-born nation, Bangla Desh, through a perilous infancy.

If it is to survive as a nation at all, Bangla is going to need a great deal of help.

With 78 million people, it will be the eighth-largest country in population in the world, but the 78 million are jammed into an area only as big as Arkansas, and they are almost all desperately poor.

More Crime Funds OK'd For Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More federal funds under the Omnibus Crime Control Act have been approved for a number of Ohio communities by Gov. John J. Gilligan, mostly for improving police communications equipment.

The new grants for communications equipment include: VINTON COUNTY — $2,623 to the sheriff's office implemented by $874 in local funds.

MASSILLON — $36,750, implemented by $12,250 in local funds, for police.

McCONNELSVILLE — $5,886, plus $1,962 in local funds for the Morgan County sheriff.

NEW LEXINGTON — $2,428, plus $607 in local funds for the Perry County sheriff.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — $5,600 to Belmont County for equipment in Bellaire and St. Clairsville.

COLUMBUS — $6,000 implemented by $6,346 in local funds for corrections officer training for guards.

Rockefeller Heads Campaign For Nixon

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he has agreed to head President Nixon's re-election campaign in New York next year. Rockefeller told a news conference Wednesday "that the President stands better with the voters of New York State right now than he has at any time."

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Mingled in with the Christmas shopping will be wedding anniversary gifts for Mr. and Mrs. Everett Grabbill, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Carfrey on Dec. 19; Bill and Vallie Long, Dec. 20; Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Anderson, Dec. 21; Darl and Bessie Miller, Dec. 22; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sullenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Porter, Dec. 23; Mr. and Mrs. Mearle Logan Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Willard Conley, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Eitel, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Mowery, Dec. 24; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hillman, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carter, Dec. 25.

On Dec. 22, 1921 at Greenup, Kentucky, Miss Bessie Wiley, a daughter of John and Effie Wiley of Chillicothe and Mr. Darl Miller, son of George and Mergalene Miller of Ross County, repeated the nuptial vows. Now, fifty golden years later, they will be at home to their many friends and relatives on Sunday, Dec. 19 between the hours of 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. For thirty-five years the couple has resided in the Williamsport locale. They are parents of five children, Florence (Mrs. Kenneth Andrick) of Columbus, Helen (Mrs. Shirley Stant) of Whisler, Esther (Mrs. Charles Picklesimer) of our town; Jean (Mrs. Richard Markel) of Chillicothe and Dale of Toledo. They are the devoted grandparents to 10 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren. We wish them good health and happiness and Congratulations.

Being avid football fans, Steve Fullen and young son Jeff, Richard and Joan Reisinger, Don and Anice Trapp were among those who traveled by chartered bus recently to Cleveland to enjoy the Cleveland Browns and Cincinnati Bengals.

Back home to the excitement of preparing for the holidays after an even more exciting Florida vacation are Connie Grady and little Kris, Carl and Wanda Hooks and daughter Kay. Carl had flown down to Tampa because of the passing of his Aunt Mae Howsman. The "gals" drove down and did all the tourist sight seeing bit. Disneyworld was outstanding on the agenda and five year old Kris was thrilled with Santa's house at Silver Springs. It was good to get back home to daddy Bud so sayeth the Grady girls.

For many years the local Child Study League has picked up the tab for afternoon milk for those youngsters who otherwise would not be a part of the school milk program. Just recently the program was re-instated at Jackson School and the League will continue their good works. Beginning in January needy children will be assured of participating in the afternoon milk and the Study League is to be commended for their continuing interest in providing for these children who are the ones who so badly need to be included in the program.

Miss Janet Stevenson, daughter of the Bruce Stevensons of near Circleville, was the Friday overnight and all day Saturday guest of school friend, Dena Galloway (and she is one of those lively daughters of Charles and Ethel).

The Christmas Concert presented by the Westfall Senior and Junior High bands and Senior and Junior Choruses on Wednesday evening was very well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all. The boys and girls and their respective directors are to be lauded for their fine efforts.

It was indeed pleasant to chat with Mrs. I. Smith Hulise and learn that she is feeling considerably improved and is now at home after several days in the hospital. We wish her continued best of health.

Opal (Mrs. Frederick) Overly, for several years secretary in the Westfall District Executive Head office, is a patient at Berger Hospital and would be pleased to receive a note of cheer.

Adding another name to their Christmas shopping lists are proud grandparents Lawrence and Dorothy Carle and June Dewey. The Carles first granddaughter (and first grandchild, too) Beth Ann calls Randy and Martha McCoy papa and mama. The first Dewey grandchild is a boy and has been christened Roger Dale II and answering to papa and mama for him are Roger and Debbie Savage.

The rafters of the Sulphur Spring Pavilion will ring with the excited voices of the boys and girls who have come to be a part of the annual American Legion Christmas Party on Wednesday evening, Dec. 22. Festivities begin at 7 sharp with "Boogie" Puffinbarger as M.C. There will be a program for all to enjoy and then Santa will dispense the welcomed goodies to the youngsters. This is for area children and anyone desiring to contribute may do so by sending to the Legion or contacting a Legionnaire. Johnson-Miner Post 618, that is.

I urge one and all to take time from a busy and hectic schedule and drive around our village and outside of town in either direction for a "little way" and feast your eyes on the positively breathtaking Christmas decorations. We have always had lovely lightings but this year is "top of the mark." Fernando tells us that in Ecuador there is not much outside decorating and lighting such as here in America and so he is very much enjoying it all. Not to detract from our own hometown but Roundtown has some excellent ideas, too and if in Columbus for goodness sake, take time to go out East Broad St. to the insurance company (State Auto, I think). It is so beautiful it brings tears to the eye. It would really be best to park the car and enjoy, enjoy, enjoy!

From our village we will try to individualize in next week's column since just before Christmas everyone is busily baking, shopping and candy making and have little time for visiting.

Big Mike and Ruth McCafferty will wing in from Scottsdale, Arizona to spend the

EPA To Require Waste Treatment By All Industries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency plans to require basic treatment of virtually all industrial discharges into U.S. waterways, even where states don't demand it.

EPA general counsel John Quarles Jr. says EPA's 10 regional administrators are being directed to apply a minimum requirement of "secondary treatment or its equivalent" to all permits for industrial-waste discharges into navigable waters.

More-stringent controls are to be imposed where required to meet state water-quality standards, he said in an interview.

Quarles said the directive "reaffirms and clarifies" existing policy which was not spelled out in writing before.

Regional administrators, responsible for writing antipollution terms into federal permits required for industrial discharges, were directed only to use their best professional judgment.

To answer any questions about the policy, Quarles said, he was sending a new memo to the regional administrators, making it clear that:

—EPA will require each industrial plant subject to a permit to achieve at least a minimum level of pollution control; thus, there may not be any no-treatment permits.

—The permits must specify discharge limitations and time-tables for achieving them.

—Exact requirements must be determined case by case, but the general standard will be "secondary treatment or its equivalent," that is, treatment roughly equivalent to that given municipal wastes.

—The minimum requirement includes plants located on either intrastate or interstate waterways, including waters for which no state standards have been adopted.

—The federal minimum standard applies even where a lower treatment level might satisfy existing state standards.

—Where serious pollution exists, more-stringent control must be applied if necessary to achieve applicable water quality standards.

That's what makes saucers exciting — no telling where you'll land!
No steering... no brakes... no telling which way you'll turn or how fast you'll go.

Swirling may be exciting on a snow-laden hill. It's something else again on the rugged slopes of life. So many parents who want the very best for their youngsters are living with the gnawing fear of how a child's future may unfold.

The Church offers sound answers to our fear. Religious training provides steering in a human life. Moral principles become the necessary brakes. And for the continuing uphill climb which beckons and challenges youthful souls, faith unlocks the resources of spiritual power.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Christmas is a time of joy, but it comes in the midst of realities that also include suffering, just as it did with Jesus, whose life from the first confronted hardship, exile, danger, eventually death and triumph over it. The following story involves the writer's family, which also faced distress but found an answer to it in the light of the life that came at Christmas.

By GORDON HANSON

Pain was Billy's ever-present companion. It delayed his falling asleep at night. It was with him through the long dark hours, and it was his first wakening awareness every morning. For the last two of Billy's 11 young years, the pain had shadowed him. He grew thinner. His cheeks were drawn and his eyes haunted. Billy's pain was the terrible aftermath of a tobogganing accident. He had been flipped from the rear of one toboggan, and as he was sitting in the snow another toboggan came from behind and struck him in the back. A tumor developed on his spine, and though his parents were unaware, it was turning cancerous. Desperately Billy's parents sought a cure. Billy was their only child. There could be no more.

They took the boy from doctor to doctor, hoping one would say, "I think I can help him." But never was there any encouragement. The search didn't end until the day a wizened, aging doctor in a small town far from Billy's home examined the boy. "Billy will soon be free of pain," he said. "Soon he'll know it no longer." Billy's mother knew that soon Billy would die. But his father refused that interpretation. In his grief he accepted only that belief—that faith—to keep going. He couldn't let the boy down. The lad needed his strength, and he needed his son's. The week before Christmas, Billy's fever rose. His pain worsened and only constant medication brought token relief. The father raged in his anguish. He wanted to the futility of it all—the cruelty of God and the pointlessness of taking a life so young. Everything was a lie. He knew no solace. Then came Christmas Eve. The father was awakened by the sounds of Billy tossing fitfully in his bed. Walking into the darkened living room, the father looked at the presents under the tree. There were so many unopened gifts there for Billy.

They represented the plans so carefully made for the boy. The father slumped into a chair. He put his hands to his face and he wept. Then, when grief could no longer come, he sat still for long minutes. The clock on the mantle ticked silently. He searched into himself, painfully and with determination. And he remembered. Slowly, awkwardly, he got down on his knees. Clapping his hands until the knuckles whitened, he raised his head. "God," he said in an anguished whisper, "something has happened. I ask that your hear me out. "As I sat here, I remembered what a personal success I've been, and how you've responded when I asked you to give me a hand. "But I know now that these were selfish prayers, for my own personal gain. And when I asked you to save Billy, that was personal too. "I couldn't stand to lose him. I had such great plans for him and I wanted some day for him to carry on for me. "You know what I remember now? I remember Your Son and Your great love when You gave Him to the world. What sadness You must have known when He died. And so God, if you would do this great thing for all of us, then I must be comforted by Your sacrifice. "It's long past the time, oh God, when I must put my trust in You. So I pray that You will welcome little Billy when he comes. I know he'll be in good hands. I know that it is they will be done." The father got to his feet and went into Billy's bedroom. It was time for a pill. The boy lay still. It almost seemed he wasn't breathing. On his cheek was a dried tear brought by the pain of only minutes before. Tenderly the father took Billy's limp hand. He looked upon the boy he loved. Suddenly the little hand tightened. Billy opened his eyes. "Dad," he said simply, "I won't be needing that pill tonight." Desperately, the father closed his eyes. Then he took a deep breath and asked the question he knew he must. "Why not, Billy?" "I've been dreaming, Dad. I've been dreaming about Jesus. He seemed very close. It might sound funny, but it's almost like He's here in the room with us right now." Billy's fingers loosened in his father's grasp. The breath of life so silent it could barely be heard escaped his lips in a sigh. And his eyes closed. The father bent over little Billy, and he took the tiny hands and folded them. Straightening, he quietly spoke his final words to his son. "That wasn't a dream, Billy. And what you said about it probably sounding silly—it didn't. "He's here and He's watching over you ... and me. He's watching over both of us. "Goodbye, son."

Unemployment Claims Remain Near Level
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Both new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation remain at about the same level as this time last year, according to a Bureau of Employment Services report issued today. New claims for the week ended Dec. 11 totaled 17,824, down from the 19,687 filed in the previous week. The average for each week in December last year was 19,401. Continuing claims totaled 100,166, up from the 94,581 the previous week. In December last year continuing claims averaged 105,916. Automobile accidents in Italy cause 10,000 deaths a year.

Dear Santa,

Hi, my name is Tina and as you probably know all the other years before I have asked for toys and clothes. And I thank you for always bringing them to me. So, this year I want something a little different. This is a guy, he should be about 5'11" give or take an inch, he should have medium brown hair, green eyes and a very sweet disposition. If you think you will have trouble finding someone like this, I'm sure I could help you with that. You have to fly through Whisler to get to my house so there's a guy there tht would fit the description exactly. Thank you. I have been good all year and feel that I deserve that much.

I'll be waiting up with some milk and cookies and a great big kiss for the both of you. P.S. Make sure his name is Rick! Thanks again.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC's hard-riding pair who call themselves Smith and Jones each week win their struggle to stay within the law, but they continue to be losers in television. "Alias Smith and Jones" has never really had a chance. Ever since the series made its midseason debut a year ago, its competition has been "The Flip Wilson Show," one of the most popular programs on the air.

It would be interesting to see how the light-hearted Western would do in some other time period. While the hour does bear a strong family resemblance to "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," it is not annoyingly imitative. Pete Duel and Ben Murphy are attractive and engaging leads. And the strongest elements in the series are the scripts. Most often they start with a situation that is a cliché of the TV western but then the story goes romping off in a direction all its own.

Thursday night's show was typical. Somebody robbed the Touchstone bank and the two ex-outlaws, Smith and Jones, were blamed. Into this familiar stew were mixed Ann Southern playing a Jolly 21 dealer in the local saloon, Jessica Walters playing the beautiful waitress in the local diner who was mixed up with the banker's no-good son-in-law. It worked out amusingly — without a shot being fired or a fist being clenched.

"Longstreet," which follows, was perking along nicely with its blind investigator solving a case a week until NBC wheeled its paraplegic detective, "Ironside," into the same time spot. The result, so far, is that "Longstreet" is taking a bit of a pasting in the ratings.

This new competition seems unfortunate from the viewpoint of the audience. "Longstreet" is a rather well done action show, extremely well acted by James Franciscus in the tricky title role of a sightless man. The stories are well conceived, the climaxes logical.

"Owen Marshall: Counselor-at-Law," which winds up ABC's Thursday night prime time, is an excellent courtroom series with Arthur Hill playing a calm, wise attorney in convincing style. Most of the scripts combine an investigation and a trial, and are several cuts above the usual programs of this type.

The hour, like the two that precede it, deserves more attention than it seems to be getting.

Arctic Cold Pushes Way Across U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arctic cold drifting across the nation today ended unseasonably mild weather that had warmed many sections in recent days.

Temperatures plunged well below zero across the Northern Plains.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms broke out along the leading edge of the cold air. Over an inch of rain fell on Newport News, Va., but for the most part the rain was light in other areas.

Scattered snow sifted into the northern Great Lakes region in advance of a second cold front pushing into the Northern Plains and upper Mississippi Valley.

Fair skies and seasonably cold weather dominated the rest of the country except for Washington, where scattered rain was reported, and western Montana, where there was a little light snow.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 78 at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to 15 below zero at Jamestown and Minot, both in North Dakota.

New Justices To Take Seats In January

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's two new justices, Lewis F. Powell of Virginia and William H. Rehnquist of Arizona, will be sworn in Jan. 7.

The new justices will go right to work after a swearing-in ceremony, the court said Thursday.

Powell, succeeding the late Hugo L. Black, becomes the 99th justice and Rehnquist, succeeding retired John N. Harlan, becomes the 100th.

Powell is a Richmond lawyer who was confirmed by the Senate Dec. 6. He is the seventh court member to hail from Virginia. Rehnquist, confirmed Dec. 10, is the first Arizonaan. He is an assistant U.S. attorney general.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Ohio got another taste of winter today with snow flurries forecast along the lake shore today and tonight. Skies are forecast to clear over central and southern Ohio tonight, allowing temperatures to plunge to the upper teens or low 20s by Saturday morning.

Temperatures over the state were mostly in the low 30s, in contrast to the almost summer-like weather of the past week.

A high will move into Ohio Saturday from the northwest, bringing mostly-sunny skies. Temperatures are expected to remain in the 20s over most of the state, however.

FORECASTS

OHIO—Clear south, cloudy and a chance of snow flurries north tonight. Colder with lows in the upper teens or low 20s. Fair south, partly cloudy north and colder Saturday. Highs mostly in the 20s and low 30s.

NORTHWEST INLAND, LAKE SHORE, NORTHEAST INLAND — Cloudy and colder with a chance of snow flurries tonight. Lows in the upper teens and low 20s. Partly cloudy and cold Saturday. Highs in the mid or upper 20s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL — Clearing and colder tonight. Lows tonight in the upper teens and low 20s. Fair and cold Saturday. Highs in the upper 20s.

SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST — Clearing and colder tonight. Lows tonight in the low 20s. Fair and cold Saturday. Highs in the low 30s.

Haiphong Fuel Depot Rebuilt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese have just about completed reconstruction of their key fuel-storage depot at Haiphong, more than five years after the depot was virtually wiped out by U.S. bombers.

Pentagon sources report that new tanks at Haiphong, North Vietnam's principal port, will be finished in a few weeks.

This will make it easier for North Vietnam to support speeded-up movement of supplies by truck convoy to Communist troops in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Some Federal Employees Face Pay Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employees of at least one federal agency face the prospect of paycheck reductions before Christmas because of a congressional snarl over appropriations.

Officials indicated Thursday some 1,300 employees of Action, the new agency combining the Peace Corps, VISTA and smaller volunteer programs, will receive paychecks next Tuesday minus two days' pay. They said the shortage probably will not be made up until after Christmas.

The problem is that stopgap financing of the agency expired Dec. 8 and the House and Senate have been unable so far to agree on continuing legislation. Pay for the two-week period ending Dec. 10 is due Tuesday, but there is no legal authority to pay for the last two days of the period.

The Agency for International Development, which administers foreign aid, and the Office of Economic Development, which administers antipoverty programs, are in a similar bind but have not yet said paychecks will be cut.

While the Defense Department's appropriation has cleared Congress, it has not yet been signed. Pentagon spokesmen said, however, they anticipate no difficulty in meeting the huge Defense payroll.

In other economic developments:

—The American Medical Association criticized a Price Commission requirement that physicians secure advance approval before increasing fees by more than 2.5 per cent. The AMA said such guidelines "appear to single out health care providers for some regulatory controls that are not applied to other providers of services."

—A federal judge in Wilmington, Del., issued a temporary restraining order against a rent increase planned by a Wilmington apartment complex, saying the proposal "in all likelihood" violates Phase 2 guidelines.

—The Pay Board announced it has established certain exceptions to the rule that wages may not rise more than 5.5 per cent a year, but will not announce details of the new ruling until today. The board also planned to announce today details of a ruling covering executive pay and said it has agreed to review at a later date the subject of merit pay.

—Secretary of Housing George Romney said new housing starts in November equalled an annual rate of 2.3 million, indicating it will top the 1.9 million new starts in 1970. Romney said the housing starts are "a powerful indication of the strength of our nation's economy." In the five years before that, he said, the industry had a high point in 1968 of just over 1.5 million units.

—The Price Commission approved an 8 per cent increase for sheet steel products made by National Steel Corp., a 4.8 boost for Kaiser Steel Corp. tin-mill products and a 2.74 per cent across-the-board increase on all Bethlehem Steel Corp. products.

Infant Bangla Desh Nation Sets Up Quarters In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The infant nation of Bangla Desh has set up a hopeful diplomatic mission to the United States in makeshift offices above a fabric store in downtown Washington.

No national emblem marks the doorway, the elevator ride is shaky and the cellophane tape that tacks the new flag to the wall speaks of impermanence.

But the once and future diplomats who man the Bangla Desh mission look for the day when they will have an embassy to call home, signifying recognition as a nation by the United States.

M.R. Siddiqui, chief of the mission, scheduled a news conference today at which he is expected to appeal for recognition and aid for a war-torn population of 78 million.

Many members of the mission staff are Bengalis who were foreign service officers at the Pakistani Embassy here. They renounced their Pakistani citizenship and diplomatic status in August. Technically, they are stateless political refugees.

"The State Department has been very generous to us," said Sams Kibria, political officer of the mission. Kibria, who also served as political officer at the Pakistani Embassy, said that all who renounced citizenship have been allowed to stay in the United States.

For Kibria and other members of the mission, the East Pakistan that fell Thursday to a victorious Indian army exists only as historical fact. To them, it is now Bangla Desh.

Toledo Trustees OK Charter Flights

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Trustees of the University of Toledo have given their approval to contracts for a student charter flight to Orlando, Fla., for the Dec. 28 Tangerine Bowl Game in which the university's football team will participate.

Permission also was given for a student flight to Jamaica British West Indies, during the March 20-24 break between winter and spring quarters. Neither flight involves university funds.

Gilly Still Wants Original Attorney

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Paul E. Gilly, scheduled to be tried Jan. 17 for the Yablonski family murders, is waging a legal battle to have attorney Gerald Gold of Cleveland reinstated as his defense counsel. Gold had represented both Gilly, 38, and his wife Annette, 31, also charged in the case, but a Washington County judge ruled that he could only defend one of them because of a possible conflict of interest.

Social Security Answers

Q. I have been married for 14 years and have never changed my name on my social security record. My social security number is still under my maiden name. Since I have worked on and off in the last few years, will I lose credit for this work?

A. No, but your employer has probably been asked about the different name on his employee earnings report. To make sure you get the proper work credit, call or visit any social security office to change your name on social security records. You will be issued a social security card with the same number you have now, but with your married name on the card.

Q. I am not eligible for a monthly social security check, but I did sign up for Medicare. I am being billed every 3 months for my medical insurance premiums. Since I receive a Veterans Administration pension, can I arrange to have my Medicare premium deducted from it?

A. No. The premium may be deducted only from social security, railroad retirement, and civil service annuity checks.

Q. Even though I am 66 years old, I am still working full time. My friends told me that I should find out about my social security retirement benefits. Should I do this when I'm still working?

A. Yes, for several reasons. Even though you are still working, you might be eligible for some social security checks. It all depends on your earnings. And, you could be missing out on valuable protection under the Medicare program.

Q. My regular employer deducted social security contributions from my pay until my earnings reached $7,800. I also worked part time for another company and they withheld social security contributions on the $3,000 I earned with them. Since I paid the maximum contributions in my regular job, was my part-time employer correct in taking social security contributions out of my pay?

A. Yes. Each of your employers must withhold social security contributions on the first $7,800 paid you in a year. However, you can claim the excess social security contribution you paid as a credit against your income tax or as a refund at the time you file your Federal income tax return.

'Nixon Dollar' Confiscated

DETROIT (AP) — The Secret Service has confiscated thousands of inflated-in-size "Nixon dollars" that Michigan Democrats had been circulating to spoof the President and his economic policy.

Amused Democrats declared after the seizure Thursday that they knew dollars had been in short supply under the Nixon administration but they didn't realize how short.

A spokesman for the Secret Service said the oversized bills were confiscated as contraband under a federal law forbidding the use of imitation U.S. currency for novelty or advertising purposes.

"Nixon dollars" are about one-third larger than regular dollar bills. On the front is an image of President Nixon flashing a victory sign with one hand while crossing the fingers of the other. On the back the bills say, "God Help Us."

Each "One Frozen Dollar" is signed by "M. Mitchell, Keeper of the Cookie Jar," and by "John Con Lee, Secretary of the Treasury."

Old Clyde Saloon To Be Torn Down

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — John L. Sullivan once put his foot on the onyx rail. So did "Gentleman Jim" Corbett and race driver Barney Oldfield.

It was known as the Clyde Saloon in the days when the two champion prize fighters visited the downtown Jacksonville night spot for a drink.

The two-story brick building in which the Clyde resides has been bought by Atlantic Ban corporation and will be torn down to clear the way for a downtown redevelopment project.

Chances Of Christmas Snow Charted By Federal Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances are only one in four there will be a white Christmas in Annette, Alaska.

For Nantucket, Mass., the odds for good sledding are one in 10. Residents of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Olympia, Wash., have virtually no chance of finding an inch of snow on the ground when they arise Dec. 25.

The government is trying to take the guesswork out of predicting where Christmas will be white by issuing a list of 269 cities and the historical probabilities that there will be snow on the ground.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, which keeps climatological records on cities and towns where there are National Weather Service offices, emphasizes that the figures are probabilities and not forecasts.

"If the figure is 70 per cent, for example, it means that there normally would be snow on the ground seven years out of 10," NOAA said. "It does not necessarily mean a White Christmas this year."

Variations also may result in cities where the weather station and the downtown area are widely separated by either distance or elevation, NOAA said, explaining that there is sometimes snow in the suburbs and rain in the city proper.

But over-all, here are some of the findings.

Roanoke, Va., (27 per cent) has a greater chance than Cheyenne, Wyo., (23 per cent). The probabilities in Oregon range from zero in Astoria to 91 per cent in Meacham; in Massachusetts from 10 per cent in Nantucket to 75 per cent in Worcester.

There are some predictables, too. Cities in Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Hawaii and Mississippi have a zero probability of a white Christmas.

Of 14 cities listed in California, only Bishop (4 per cent) has any chance at all; likewise Huntsville (9 per cent) among four cities in Alabama.

Fairbanks, Alaska, and International Falls, Minn., are the only two with a 100 per cent probability.

Woman Says Life Pleasant As Red Chinese Prisoner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mary Ann Harbert, the pert, 25-year-old secretary held by the Communist Chinese for 3½ years, says life in China's countryside was not too unpleasant after the first year of captivity.

Miss Harbert said Thursday that she lived in a small farmhouse in a rural commune, raised pets and had a vegetable garden.

To pass the time Miss Harbert played badminton, Ping

Pong, cards and chess with Chinese who brought her food and who could speak some English.

She said she was never held in a prison.

"There was usually a guard with a submachine gun and bayonet, ready at any time, but it wasn't necessary," said the 97-pound woman. "I could hardly overpower him."

Wearing a blue and white miniskirted dress and her brown hair hung loosely around her neck, Miss Harbert related her story at a news conference.

Taken at gunpoint from a friend's sailboat off the China coast in mid-1968, Miss Harbert was freed Monday along with 44-year-old Richard G. Fecteau of Lynn, Mass. She and Fecteau, an Army civilian employee who was a prisoner of the Chinese for more than 19 years, crossed the border into Hong Kong.

Miss Harbert said she was captured while sailing from Hong Kong to Manila with Gerald Ross McLaughlin, formerly of Palo Alto. The Chinese said McLaughlin committed suicide in 1969 while in detention.

"We had no intention of trespassing into Chinese waters," Miss Harbert said. "We thought we were sailing a legal course. The Chinese who captured us said we had intruded. We were outnumbered, so we agreed it was possible we were in. It was also possible we were not. We didn't know."

Miss Harbert said she and McLaughlin were held in the same house—she upstairs and he downstairs—for the first nine months. She said she never saw him after that.

She also said she was never charged with a crime or brought to trial and denied spying for the United States.

Once, she said, she was threatened with jail unless she made anti-American statements.

"I refused," Miss Harbert said. "I said I was not going to. They finally accepted this."

Dog Retirement Brings Jail Term

WATERLOO, Ont. (AP) — Pensioner Frederick Strauss, 68, went to jail Wednesday still firm in his belief that dogs, like people, should enjoy the benefits of retirement.

He chose two days behind bars rather than pay a $10 fine for failing to buy a tag for his dog Bonnie, 14.

Strauss told Judge Gordon McConnell he has paid $6.50 a year to the city of Waterloo for years to get Bonnie her annual tags. And now that Bonnie is pushing 15, he figures she should be pensioned off from the dogtag system.

Life expectancy in Uganda is about 40 years.

Hawaii Prison Riot Short-Lived

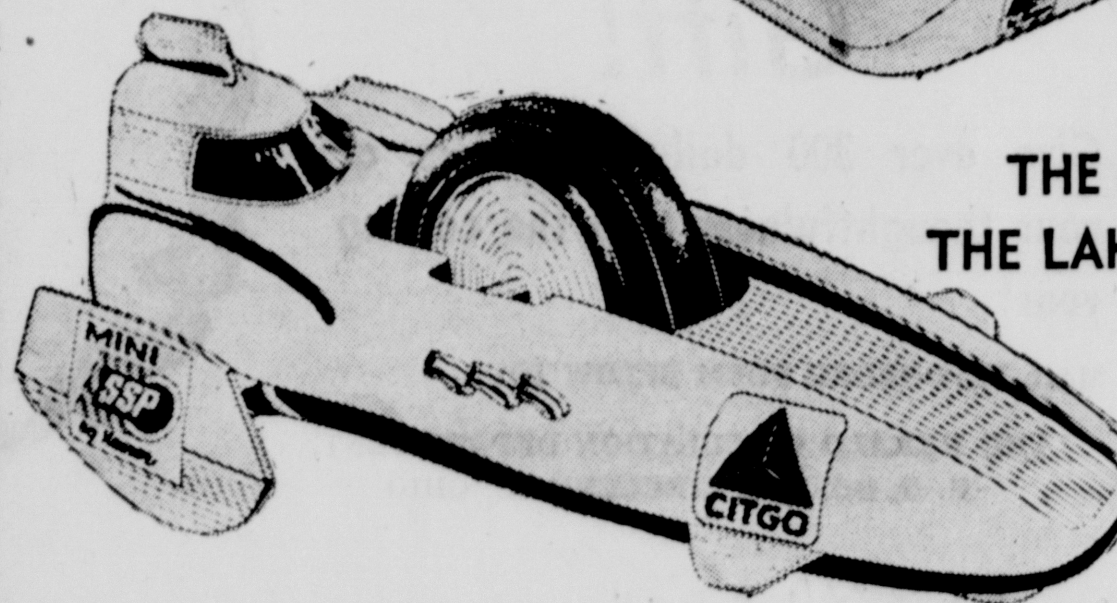

HONOLULU (AP) — Six prisoners at the Hawaii State Prison barricaded themselves in a corridor for over two hours Thursday before being routed by tear gas and fires which they set. Officials said the six were involved in an escape attempt Wednesday night.

Authorities said the inmates were being returned to their cells in the maximum security section at 7 a.m. Thursday after taking showers.

They barricaded a corridor with mattresses and blankets and refused to go to their cells, prison Supt. Antonio Olim said.

An hour later, the prisoners began tearing out toilets and other property, and prison guards responded by lobbing tear gas. The prisoners then set the bedding on fire.

The 40 House Republicans who voted against the income tax bill endorsed by Gov. John Gilligan, a Democrat, have mapped plans to keep the names of the "defectors" in the public eye.

Thirty-six of the 40 "no" voters attended a strategy dinner Thursday, delaying for some time a scheduled floor session of the House.

Still angry at the 13 Republicans who voted for the bill in the House, a source who attended the dinner said the 36 pledged to file or encourage lawsuits against the tax.

One of the anti-voters, Gertrude Polcar, R-51 Parma, said she wasn't invited. "Maybe they don't need me any more," she smiled.

Miss Polcar resigned from the House later the same night, the resignation effective Jan. 1. She will take office as Parma

Municipal Court Judge.

Senate Minority Leader Anthony Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, has asked the Franciscan Fathers of Springdale, Conn., to pray for the statehouse press corps one year beginning Christmas Day.

The notice from the Franciscan Fathers noted that "all members and staff of the press room" had been enrolled in the order's mass association. An accompanying note from Calabrese, who said the mass blessing cost him $100, explained why.

"I know you all need God's blessings for your coverage of the tax bill."

Notes saying, "Free the Columbus Two," sprang up around the Statehouse after Rep. Alan Norris, R-59 Westerville, and his attorney, John McElroy, were found in contempt of a U.S. District Court.

Norris' Franklin County colleague, Rep. Keith McNamara, R-64 Columbus, got up on the floor of the House to announce creation of the "Alan Norris Defense Fund."

McNamara noted that the Presbyterian Church had contributed $20,000 to the Angela Davis defense fund and said he thought the House chaplain, Presbyterian Alvin Duane Smith, could possibly use his influence to get at least $20 from Norris.

Norris was fined $100 by the federal court and McElroy was fined $5,000. They were given 30 days in which to pay.

After McNamara's speech, a page came onto the floor of the House with a cake containing a file. The page snapped handcuffs around the surprised Norris' wrists. McNamara said he thought Norris should get the feel of the restraints.

Health Board Studies Sewage, Park Problem

Mr. Don Archer of the Soil Conservation Service met with the Pickaway County Board of Health Tuesday to discuss some of the problems of sewage disposal in the county.

The board is trying to decide whether new subdivisions must install central sewage systems. Presently contractors may use on-lot disposal.

Archer explained that most soil types in the County are unsuitable for on-the-lot leaching of sewage and that central sewage is a necessity in some soils. He explained that some soils either swell or shrink to the extent that they damage foundation.

The board, in determining whether to permit leach beds, has been using percolation tests, or a test that measures the soil's ability to absorb water under artificial saturation.

HOWEVER action was initiated Tuesday to disallow percolation tests and rely only on soil analysis as presented by the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District with the cooperation of the Soil Conservation Service.

Also discussed was the necessity of builders to discover if sewage can be disposed of on their property. According to Theoburn Blaney and Hugh Barnhill, environmentalists, many people request sewage permits for newly purchased homes only to find out that it is impossible to dispose of sewage on their property.

As a result, the board suggested a meeting with zoning inspectors to require sewage permits before any construction could be started.

Hugh Barnhill discussed at length findings of his trailer park survey, conducted during July and August.

He noted that the most serious problem facing the more than 3,000 inhabitants of mobile homes in the county is sewage disposal.

Basing his findings on the inspection of 10 of the county's 23 trailer parks, he disclosed that many of the parks were old and operate with septic tanks of insufficient size and number.

"LEACHING fields could never accommodate the volumes of waste generated at some of these parks. The result is polluted streams and ditches," his report read in part.

He also discovered five other environmental problems in his inspections.

These included inadequately protected electric supply lines, improperly stored waste, to include garbage, improper sewage connections that allow sewage to pool on the ground around the mobile homes, general cleanliness of the parks, and failure to conduct regular checks of the water supply.

He noted that the overall inspection showed parks to have an 88.8 rating on a 100 point scale.

He submitted a Trailer Park Program Sanitation Review sheet that listed offenses and gave each infraction a specific point total.

The Carval Manor, with 65 trailer spaces, showed no infractions.

THE A and W Trailer Park, 25 spaces, had two sanitary infractions; Plainview Trailer Park 100 spaces, three infractions; Circleville Mobile Homes, 124 spaces, three infractions; Furniss Trailer Park, 14 spaces, three infractions; Gregory Trailer Park, 212 spaces, three infractions; Tedrow's Trailer Park, 15 spaces, five infractions; Pickaway Mobile Homes, 24 spaces, five infractions; Caravan Trailer Court, 25 spaces, six infractions; and Sun Set Park, 25 spaces, seven infractions.

In other discussion, Mrs. Helen Pickens, County health nurse, told the board that she made follow-up visits to test families whose children were found to have positive tuberculosis skin tests during recent testing by the Ohio Department of Health in county schools.

She visited the George McDowell, Saltcreek, Washington Twp., Scioto and Darby Twp. schools for immunizations, impetigo and pediculosis.

Two families were referred to Operation Rudolph.

Five children were referred for vision testing.

Mrs. Pickens also announced that the department will discontinue, per Ohio Department of Health directive, giving smallpox vaccinations, unless requested.

A-C Board OKs Summer Band Camp

Members of the Amanda-Clearcreek band will be able to attend the 1972 summer training session at Camp Rio Grande with the approval of the local board of education.

Board members gave their approval for students to attend the band training camp in summer on the campus of Rio Grande college.

Other matters considered by the board during their meeting Monday evening included approval for a Junior Class dance Dec. 23 at the high school, a new policy for selection of cheerleaders, approval for use of the Stoutsville gym for basketball to Heidelberg Church and Stoutsville and Amanda Merchants, adoption of a new intensive instruction policy.

Retiring board members Robert W. Turner and Paul D. Kraft expressed their appreciation to the administration and other members for support and cooperation during their terms.

Members were reminded of the organizational meeting set for Jan. 3 at 8 p.m.

Attending the December meeting were Jean Juch, Jack Fausnaugh, Kraft Turner and Ronald Bates, members of and board; Clerk Ann Cole; Superintendent W. A. Smith; Principals Richard V. Smith, Wayne Evans and Stephen Gahn and visitors Egmil Chase, Robert Hendrickson, Paul Molyneus, Bill Harmon and Elwood Kim.

east and 1,285 in the west, they added.

There have been no figures on Pakistan losses, but the Indian Defense Ministry says Pakistan's losses are much higher than India's — and few doubt this.

The future of Yahya Khan's military government is in doubt. He had moved recently to transfer control to civilians, and this trend will gain impetus under such men as Zulfikar Ali Bhutto. As deputy prime minister and foreign minister, he says Pakistan should have democratic government soon.

Lt. Gen. J. S. Aurora, who accepted Pakistan's surrender in Dacca, said his troops will remain in East Pakistan for a time to help repatriate war prisoners, re-establish law and order and communications, and help with the return of Bengali refugees from India. He expected most Indian forces to withdraw within weeks.

The general said the defeated soldiers from West Pakistan were being allowed to keep their weapons until they arrived in POW camps because of fear that vengeful Bengalis "would butcher them" in reprisal for the Pakistani Army's war on the Bengali independence forces since last March.

"The bitterness in Dacca — you have to see it to believe it," he told reporters.

Forecaster Sees 49ers

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — San Francisco and Los Angeles both will win Sunday, but the Rams will be losers nevertheless.

That's the word from here, with the 49ers picked to beat Detroit and the Rams picked to beat Pittsburgh in season-ending games that will determine the National Conference West champion and the final berth in the playoffs.

That's how the Rams will come up losers. If the 49ers win, they're in the playoffs, no matter what Los Angeles does.

Also to be decided this weekend are the AFC and NFC East champions, although the front-runners and the runners-up in both divisions already have qualified for the playoffs. The way it looks from here Baltimore will be atop the AFC East, and Dallas the NFC East, leaving Miami and Washington in the runner-up spots.

Here are all the picks, noting that last week's record was 9-4:
Dallas 41, St. Louis 17—Roger Staubach has the Cowboys' offense rolling over everyone, and the Cardinals are one of the better candidates for that kind of onslaught. The game is scheduled for Saturday and national telecasting, CBS at 4 p.m., EST.

Washington 27, Cleveland 17—A Dallas loss coupled with a Washington victory or tie against the AFC Central champions would give the Redskins the NFC East title. Larry Brown of the Redskins needs 133 yards to repeat as a 1,000-yard rusher.

San Francisco 24, Detroit 21—this could be a rough one for the 49ers with the Lions looking to maul someone after failing to make the playoffs. But San Francisco should be able to get the job done on the ground behind Ken Willard and Vic Washington.

Los Angeles 27, Pittsburgh 20—The Rams may be down after their loss to the Redskins Monday night, but they know

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Well, Santa, here we are again with a few requests that will help brighten the sports picture for the area schools and coaches.

Bring Logan Elm and Westfall a Blue Cross policy in case they are hit again with the rash of injuries that beset them this past football season.

And to both bring teams so powerful that when they collide for the Scioto Valley Conference crowns they'll be so good they won't be able to beat each other.

When you get to Teays Valley leave a package of "power and glory" wrapped up in all the trimmings of the Metropolitan League ribbons.

At Circleville leave a file to sharpen the claws of the Tigers in order to change the meaning of SCOL to "Certainly Circleville Olways Leads".

And to the elder statesman of local coaching ranks, jolly old Jim Lint, bring a pole vaulter, who when he orbits, makes a launching at Cape Kennedy look like a dud firecracker.

But most of all, Santa, bring everyone nothing but the best, wrapped up in a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Our little gem of information — Four out of five ducks begin life in Canada — Doesn't that kind of tear you up?

Our "fearless" forecast — Circleville will leave the Lion crying... Vikings will turn the tide of Olentangy... Westfall will regroup against East Clinton... Logan Elm to streak over Piketon... Steve Jones likes Washington over the Browns (and he's the boss)... Jets will fly over Cincinnati... Don't say we didn't tell you — Walt Patulski, Notre Dame defensive end, will be number one pick in the pro draft.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

20-Game Schedule On Tap For Ohio College Cagers

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Trying to generate more offense, Coach Fred Taylor will have a revamped Ohio State basketball lineup Saturday night when the tenth-ranked Buckeyes invade Butler.

The game is the first for the defending Big Ten champion since a 79-68 loss at Ohio University six days ago and tops a 20-contest schedule for Ohio colleges Saturday.

In other major college tests Saturday, Miami is at Dayton, Kent State at Utah State, St. Bonaventure at Bowling Green, Morris Harvey at Toledo and Xavier at Auburn.

Cincinnati opens play in the Jayhawk, Kan., Classic and Urbana, sporting the state's best record of 8-0, participates in the Spring Arbor, Mich., Tournament.

Elsewhere, Heidelberg is at Walsh, Blackburn at Mount Union, Baldwin-Wallace at South Florida, West Liberty State at Capital, Kenyon at Ball State, Wilberforce at Wooster, Cedarville at Ohio Dominican, Malone at Point Park, Alderson-Broaddus at Ashland, San Francisco State at Cleveland State, Illinois Wesleyan at Akron and Steubenville at Fairmont State.

In Ohio college basketball action Thursday night, Bellarmine, Ky., upset eighth-ranked small college power Akron 69-63 by sinking five free throws in the closing seconds of play.

After Bellarmine's Greg Held hit three free throws and Bobby Todd added two more, the Zips missed a final shot and saw their record fall to 4-1.

George Duncan of Bellarmine (5-1) and Harvey Glover and Will Schwarzwinger of Akron shared game scoring honors with 17 points apiece.

The Boilermakers of Purdue rolled over Miami 85-58 for their fourth home-court victory and fifth win in seven starts.

Miami (1-3) never was in contention after the first 10 minutes of play. Frank Kendrick led Purdue with 24 points, while Larry Garloch paced the Mid-American Conference team with 14.

Toledo, also playing outside the MAC, thumped California Poly 79-56 as Tom Kozelko swished 22 points and led rebounders with 17. Toledo out-rebounded the visitors 58-42 and outshot them from the field 44-41 per cent in posting its third victory in four games.

Cleveland State kept its record unblemished at 4-0 with a 94-63 win over Kenyon. Bill Johnson and Bill McMeans led the Penguins with 23 points each, while Ed Moran was high for the Lords (1-5) with 13.

Urbana defeated Olivet Nazarene 95-90 in the opening round of the Kiwanis Classic at Spring Arbor, Mich. Mark Todd scored 42 points to lead Urbana into a semifinal clash with host Spring Arbor tonight.

Rams Must Beat Steelers To Keep Title Hopes Alive

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Rams are in a familiar position as they prepare for Sunday's final National Football League regular season game against the Pittsburgh Steelers. They know they must win or tie to keep their playoff hopes alive. Only they don't know if winning or tying will be enough.

The Rams trail San Francisco by one-half game in the battle for the final NFL playoff berth. If LA wins or ties Pittsburgh, it can sneak into the playoffs should the 49ers lose to Detroit. But the San Francisco game is on the West Coast and will just be starting at about the time the Rams-Steelers contest is ending.

That means if the Rams get by the Steelers, they'll have to wait around and hope the Lions can trip up San Francisco.

It was the same story last year when the Rams were in New York for the final game and needed a victory over the Giants and some help from Oakland to create a tie for the division title. Los Angeles held the Raiders bowed to the 49ers, allowing San Francisco to clinch.

If the Rams win this time and 49ers tie, it would leave both teams with identical 8-5-1 records but LA would get the division crown and the playoff berth by virtue of having beaten San Francisco twice.

The NFL's seven other playoff berths have all been wrapped up with Baltimore, Miami, Cleveland and Kansas City in the American Conference and Dallas, Washington and Minnesota in the NFC all bidding their time this week.

While the playoff teams—except in the NFC West—have been decided, the pairings have not and that's what will be determined this weekend. It all depends on which team winds up on top in the East Division of each conference.

The playoffs begin Saturday, Dec. 25 with the AFC East champion, Dallas or Washington, playing at Minnesota, the NFC Central champ, and the AFC East champ, Baltimore or Miami, playing against the AFC West champ, Kansas City.

On Sunday, Dec. 26, it will be the AFC's wild card qualifier, Baltimore or Miami, at the AFC Central champion, Cleveland, and the NFC wild card qualifier, Dallas or Washington, at the NFC West champion, San Francisco or Los Angeles.

Besides Los Angeles' game at Pittsburgh and Detroit's contest at San Francisco, Sunday's schedule includes New England at Baltimore, Green Bay at Miami, Cleveland at Washington, Denver at Oakland, Minnesota at Chicago, Buffalo at Kansas City, Atlanta at New Orleans, Philadelphia at the New York Giants, San Diego at Houston and Cincinnati at the New York Jets.

The pro weekend begins Saturday with St. Louis playing at Dallas.

Farmers And Sportsmen Hold Annual Wild Game Banquet

The Pickaway Farmers and Sportsmen's Assn. held its annual game banquet at the 4-H and Grange Building Thursday.

Over 100 club members and guests were present for the fete which included deer, antelope, moose, turkey, rabbit and pheasant on the menu.

Shooting trophies and medals were awarded following the dinner.

The first place trophy in the Class A Pistol competition went to Ed Hart, Larry Smith was second and Gary Hinton third. In the Class B competition, Bill Clark was first, Bill Shaffer second and Roger Burggraf third.

In the Class A Rifle competition, Ed Hart was again first, Frank Carpenter second and Bill Clark third.

petition, Larry Smith was first, Bill Shaffer second and Dick Redman third.

Ed Hart won the 30 caliber competition, Dick Weibette was second and Larry Smith third.

Leaders in the club's fish and game contest for 1971 are: Tom Weldon, large mouth bass; Dick Redman, white tail deer; ringneck pheasant, turkey and fox.

Weldon showed two color movies, one on pollution and the other on wild turkey.

The club's next meeting will be 8 p.m. Jan. 19. A 22 caliber rifle match will be held at 6:20 p.m. at the club's indoor range at the fairgrounds.

Junior Cagers Lose To Lions

Lack of height hurt the Circleville Junior High cagers as they dropped a 67-38 decision to a tall Washington C. H. squad Thursday on the latter's court.

The tall Lions controlled the boards and the game as they led the smaller Tigers 35-13 at halftime to put the contest out of reach.

Bill Mogan scored eight points to lead Circleville. Brent Mancini added seven, Tom Marshall, Rick Moore and Mike Lawter each hooped five, Biff Bumgarner had three and Frank Merrill and Steve Penn had two points apiece in the losing effort.

Circleville will be back in action Monday when the little Tigers travel to Chillicothe Smith.

Stock Car Association Elects Slate Of Officers

Advance planning is under way for the 17th season of the Chillicothe Stock Car Racing Association with the election of new officers and the decision to continue with the same racing programs for super-modified and super-stock classifications.

John Kern was chosen as the new president when the directors held their annual election meeting, with Richard Mitchell as vice president. Carl C. Black and Eugene Opp were returned as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

They will serve also as directors along with Don McFarland, Bill McCoy and Leroy Collins.

The organization plans to open Atomic Speedway at the usual time of the first Saturday night in May.

The racing program will be split as usual between the modifieds and the full-bodied stocks with the regulations as the same except that the limits for the stocks will be moved up a year. Bodies from 1949 through 1965 will be permitted in the super stocks, with engines up to 1967.

In the 1971 season marred by eight rainouts George Harbour of Apple Grove, W. Va., was the new modified point champion and Bob Crace of Chillicothe moved up as the super-stock point leader. The season was cut to 14 modified races and one less for the super-stock.

Christmas Football Raises Protests

NEW YORK (AP) — Two National Football League playoff games will be played on Christmas Day but mounting protests against the scheduling may cause the NFL to change future plans about setting games for that holiday.

The Minnesota Vikings, hosts for one of the Christmas Day games, said they had received many complaints both by phone and letter and that 5,800 of between 8,000 and 9,000 tickets offered for sale last Sunday, remain unsold.

Tiger Frosh Crush Lions For 5th Win

Circleville's freshman cagers came up with a big fourth quarter and ripped Washington C. H., 50-29, for their fifth straight win Thursday at Circleville.

Both teams were undefeated going into the contest but a 25 point outburst on the part of Circleville in the final period sent the little Lions down to defeat.

Washington led 6-5 at the end of the first quarter but the Tigers held an 18-13 margin at halftime. Circleville was on top, 25-19, at the conclusion of the third canto and scorched the cords in the final frame while holding the Lions to 10 tallies.

Perry Hoskins and Phil Roll led Circleville with 13 points apiece, Pat McNaughton added nine, Riley Rose seven, Frank Plescia, Doug Palm and Tim McNaughton each hooped two while Ted Oberly and Harold Reed added one each for the winners.

JIM Jess led Washington with 15 markers and Jeff Brown netted eight for the losers.

Circleville will be at home Monday with Chillicothe Smith.

Redmen Stop Manhattan, 85 - 83

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

What can you say about a college basketball team that everyone thought had died?

"We knew we had to play harder after losing a star like Julius Erving," says Massachusetts Coach Jack Leaman, "and that's what we've been doing."

After losing their quality center to the pros this season, the Redmen have had to adjust their style to "playing more people, pressing and running more," according to Leaman.

The formula is working like a New England charm and Thursday night, the defending Yankee Conference champions turned back Manhattan 85-83 for their sixth victory this season and 12th straight regular season triumph over two years.

The contest was the first game of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden in New York. Columbia trimmed Rutgers 76-73 in the second game.

In other games Thursday night, Fordham defeated the City College of New York 90-71;

Duquesne shelled Nevada Reno 110-77; Western Kentucky slugged Butler 91-69; Louisiana Tech toppled Auburn 107-82; Purdue spanked Miami of Ohio 85-58, and Illinois turned back Georgia 84-78.

Massachusetts, which had a 23-4 mark last season and participated in the NIT, will be hard-put to match that mark this season, according to Leaman.

"Our biggest problem is rebounding... we don't have any," said Leaman, whose biggest board man is 6-foot-3 Al Skinner.

But the small Redmen certainly don't have an inferiority complex about it. They battled the taller Jaspers on even rebounding terms Thursday night while Skinner murdered Manhattan from the foul line.

The bouncing forward, who had a game-high 13 rebounds, scored 25 points, including 17 of 19 charity throws. John Betancourt pitched in 24 for the winners, including two key foul shots with a minute to go.

One thing the Redmen couldn't do right was seal off Rich Garner, Manhattan's hot-handed little guard who had a game-high 32 points.

Foley Jones scored five key points with less than three minutes to go as underdog Columbia held off Rutgers in the closing minutes and won its first game of the season after five losses.

Nick Weatherspoon scored 28 points and Bill Morris had 22 as unbeaten Illinois stopped Georgia.

2 Toledo Regulars Out Of Bowl Game

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The University of Toledo will risk the nation's longest football victory streak of 34 games against Richmond Dec. 28 in the Tangerine Bowl without two of its regulars.

Fullback Rich Eberlin, the Rockets' No. 3 rusher, has mononucleosis. Left guard Steve Bowman, is recovering from a severely cut right hand.

John Fraley lead the losers with 25 points.

Louisiana Tech hit the 100-point mark for the fifth straight game in its victory over Auburn. Jim Jenkins had 24 points for the winners while Henry Harris paced Auburn with 17. Sophomore Frank Kendrick's 24 points helped Purdue run away from Miami of Ohio and Lionel Billingsly and Ruben Montanez combined for 59 points to lead Duquesne over Nevada-Reno.

Pistons Turn Back Royals 107-101 In NBA Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took a public blast from the general manager and a team meeting, but the Detroit Pistons finally found the spark.

Detroit, led by guard Jimmy Walker's 34 points, rallied in the fourth period Thursday night to defeat the Cincinnati Royals 107-101. In the only other NBA game scheduled, the Golden State Warriors ripped the Philadelphia 76ers 113-93.

In the lone ABA game of the night, the Floridians used a balanced scoring attack and a 42-point third quarter outburst to rout the Pittsburgh Condors 129-103.

Earlier in the day, Detroit GM Edwin Coil blasted his players for not having their minds on the games of late. The Pistons had been languishing in last place in the Midwest Division of the NBA's Western Conference with an 11-18 record.

Before the home game against the Royals, Walker called a team meeting. After the players held their discussion, Coach Earl Lloyd lectured his charges.

All of which apparently produced instant results. Walker tossed in 15 points in the final period, including a pair of free throws midway through the quarter to put his team ahead for good. Burly pivotman Bob Lanier added 26 points and 19 rebounds for Detroit, while Tom Van Arsdale led the Royals with 20 points and John Mengelt added 16.

Cazzie Russell paced Golden State with 30 points, as the Warriors outscored the 76ers 34-12 in the third quarter. Billy Cunningham and rookie Dave Wohl each scored 19 for Philadelphia.

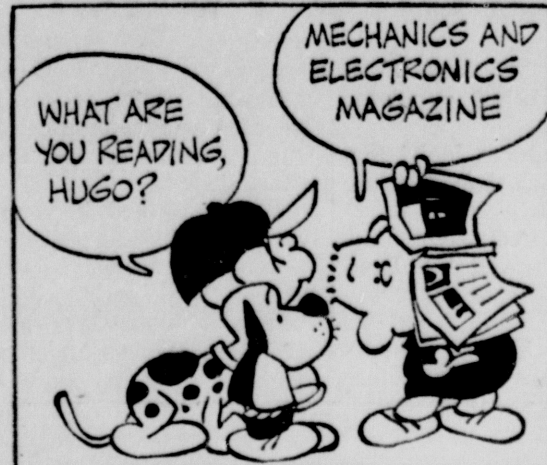

Guard Mack Calvin paced the Floridians with 29 points, while five others hit for double figures. Al Tucker had 21, Ira Harge 16, Larry Jones 14, Warren Jabali 13 and Lonnie Wright 10.

Travis Grant Leads Basketball Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Travis Grant, Kentucky State's 6-foot-8 Little All-American forward who has earned the nickname "The Machine" for his outstanding shooting ability, heads the list of NCAA College Division scoring leaders released today with a whopping 49.0 points-per-game average.

Grant, who along with 7-foot pivotman Elmore Smith led the Thorobreds to the NAIA championship last season, scored 56 points against Calvary and 42 against Tennessee Wesleyan.

New Postal Chief A 'Horatio Alger'

WASHINGTON (AP) — When his boss asked him, at age 16, what he aspired to, Elmer Theodore (Ted) Klassen replied: "I want your job in a year's time."

Recalling that moment 47 years ago, the new Postmaster General of the United States added: "He was surprised, but a year later I got his job."

For Klassen, chosen last week to head the U.S. Postal Service, that advancement was only the first in a career that rivals the best of Horatio Alger stories.

Born in the prairie village of Hillsboro, Kans., in 1908, Klassen went with his parents to California at the age of 6. At 12, he went to work.

At the age of 16, he took a job as office boy in the San Francisco office of the American Can Co., and left the firm 10 years later as its president, chief operating officer and director.

It was not until his 44th year that Klassen found time to explore higher education. When he did, he did it in style—advanced management training at the Harvard School of Business.

All of this has left Klassen with a deep respect for the system that brought him success. "There are many opportunities like this in America today," he said in an Associated Press interview.

Klassen's selection by the Postal Board of Governors last week must have been another source of satisfaction. For two years, he had, by all accounts, done yeoman service in the shadow of the outspoken Winton M. Blount, who resigned two months ago to assess his chances in next year's Senate race in Alabama.

Now, although he does not officially take the Postal Service's top spot until Jan. 1, Klassen is already beginning to look at home in the high-ceilinged, wood-paneled office that is the Postmaster General's.

Klassen is the first Postmaster General not appointed by the President. The postal reform legislation that took effect last July established the Postal Service as an independent government authority and removed the Postmaster General from the President's Cabinet.

To Klassen, who was Blount's deputy from 1969 to 1970 before becoming a member of the policy-setting board of governors, the step seemed essential to bringing order to the massive postal system. "People around here used to say 'I've survived six or seven Postmaster Generals. I can survive this one,'" he said. "That's a dangerous attitude, both for employees and management."

Urbana Pay Raise Offered

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—Striking police and firemen were to vote today on whether to accept a 5.5 per cent salary increase offered by the city.

But council also said Mayor Thomas Asterino's 5.5 per cent pay raise proposal was agreeable to a majority of members if the work stoppage ends. Asterino estimated the increases for the 36 men would cost the city $21,630 a year. The police and firemen began a sick-call stoppage at noon Wednesday after city council approved pay hikes for the mayor, city auditor and solicitor.

Taft Urges UC Cancer Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, called Wednesday for full public hearings by the Senate health subcommittee on a cancer treatment program at the University of Cincinnati.

Criticizing the way he said the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., investigated and condemned the program, Taft told the Senate:

"When a leading university medical center is accused of running what amounts to little more than a death camp for cancer patients, I believe that the public has a legitimate interest in a full and complete inquiry."

Taft said the subcommittee majority staff members were sent to Cincinnati to investigate the Pentagon-sponsored program without the knowledge of the minority staff members.

Even more he questioned the "propriety of issuing public statements on the basis of a field trip by majority staffers when no hearings have been held and there has been no opportunity for the officials of the university to present their case."

Taft said Kennedy had labeled the program utilizing whole of partial body radiation treatment of terminal cancer patients "an incredible infringement of individual liberty."

Miami U Prof Sets Retirement As Newsmen

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Gilson Wright, news correspondent and former faculty member at Miami University, will retire from active work for newspapers and The Associated Press the end of this month after 30 years of service.

Wright retired from the university last year after 50 years during which he held positions as news director, sports director, journalism professor and faculty adviser to the student newspaper.

During his years in Oxford, the Paulding, Ohio, native, has reported news from the college town for the Hamilton Journal-News, Cincinnati Enquirer, Cincinnati Post & Times Star, Dayton Daily News, Dayton Journal-Herald, New York Times, Cleveland Plain-Dealer and the AP.

Wright, 66, attended Ohio Northern University and was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan. He worked on newspapers in Lima, Mansfield and Marion in the early days of his career. He came to Miami in 1949 as sports publicity director. He plans to remain in Oxford.
